

Michigan License Renewal Requirements

Real estate licenses expire on October 31 of each three-year cycle.

License Categories and Requirements

Salesperson

18 total hours of continuing education (CE) every three years, which must include two hours per year of legal update training

Broker (includes those choosing to work as associate brokers)

18 total hours of CE every three years, which must include two hours per year of legal update training

Exceptions

Brokers and salespersons are not always licensed at the beginning of a 3-year cycle. In this case, the following exceptions apply:

- Brokers and salespersons who become initially licensed during the second year of the 3-year cycle are required to complete only 12 hours of CE.
- Brokers and salespersons who become initially licensed during the third year of the 3-year cycle are required to complete only six hours of CE.

Late Renewals

If a license expires, an individual can still renew without being required to retake the licensing examination if all of the following are true:

- It's been less than three years since the license expired.
- The individual pays a late renewal fee in addition to the other required fees
- The individual completes six hours of CE each year or partial year since the license expiration.

If more than three years has passed since license renewal, the department may re-issue a license if any (not all) of the following are met:

- Broker or associate broker has:
 - Completed six hours of CE each year or partial year since the license expiration.
 - Completed 90 hours of pre-licensing education in the 12-month period preceding application.
 - Passed the real estate broker licensing exam.
- A salesperson has:
 - Completed six hours of CE each year or partial year since the license expiration.
 - Completed 40 hours of pre-licensing education in the 12-month period preceding application.
 - Passed the real estate salesperson licensing exam.

License Revocation

If a license is revoked, the individual must wait at least three years from the date of revocation to apply for a new license. The individual must meet all the education and licensing exam requirements in effect at the time of license application.
